CROWN

Charlotte, Reconnecting Ourselves
With Nature;

Is a new chapter of the North Carolina Wildlife Federation, hosted by Queens University Environmental and Chemistry Department.

We meet every third Thursday, 7PM at Queens University!

CROWN invites you to our October 17th meeting, featuring Carol Buie-Jackson, Owner,
Bird House on the Greenway.

Carol's enthusiasm, humor, and knowledge of backyard wildlife habitats will inspire and inform you of the many wonders of nature just outside your back door. Her topics will include details of the basic requirements needed to create a wildlife friendly setting within any property whether it's a home, business or place of worship.

Carol is a National Wildlife Federation Habitat Steward, a Central Carolinas Master Naturalist, a Master Composter and Chairwoman of the Board of the North Carolina Wildlife Federation. She continues to be in demand as a speaker, all across the state

Please join us on Thursday, October 17th. 7PM, at Queens University to learn how you can transform Charlotte into a wildlife friendly community!
