

Charlotte
Wildlife
Stewards

Presents

Barred Owls

Tuesday, September 8, at 6:30pm online via

Zoom at <https://us02web.zoom.us/j/82739425472>

Barred Owls are one of the most common owls found in North Carolina but not many people know much about them. Learn the basics about Barred Owls with Audrey Blackburn, the Community Engagement Coordinator from the Carolina Raptor Center. She'll teach you some fun facts about these nocturnal predators and how to attract them to your backyard and will talk about how humans are having a surprising impact on their population.

So mark your calendars and join in online for our first community nature program as Charlotte Wildlife Stewards.

You will also hear about exciting community events we have planned for the coming months.

Connect with Nature

